Vienna Being Close To Austrian Border Is Also Close To Bratislava In Slovakia (56 Km), Budapest In Hungary (252 Km), Prague In Czech Republic (252 Km), Zagreb In Croatia (265 Km), Munich In Germany (355 Km), Venice In Italy (435 Km) And Belgrade In Serbia (495 Km).

3. Significance

Vienna is Austria's primary city, with a population of about 1.8 million, and its cultural, economic, and political centre. Apart from being regarded as the City of Music because of its musical legacy, Vienna is also said to be "The City of Dreams" because it was home to the world's first psycho-analyst – Sigmund Freud. The UN-Habitat has classified Vienna as being the most prosperous city in the world in 2012/2013. The city was ranked 1st globally for its culture of innovation in 2007 and 2008.

4. History

According to historical evidence the area occupied by Vienna has been continuously inhabited since 500 BC. Vienna was settled by Celts during the early period. In 15 BC Romans took control of the area and it came to be known as Vindobona. In the 10th century the Babenberg dynasty started increasing their control over the region and eventually expanding to Vienna. In 1145 Vienna became the Babenberg family residence. After the end of Babenberg dynasty Vienna came under the Habsburg rule. It eventually became the de facto capital of the Holy Roman Empire until the beginning of the 19th century. During the Napoleonic Wars Vienna became the capital of the Austrian empire. After the Austro-Hungarian compromise of 1867 Vienna remained the capital of the Austro-Hungarian empire. In the latter half of the 19th century Vienna grew rapidly and several suburbs were incorporated in the city. After World War I, in 1918 Vienna became capital of the Republic of German-Austria and then in 1919 capital of the First Republic of Austria after signing of the Treaty of Saint Germain. In 1938 Vienna lost its status as capital as the Austria became part of Nazi Germany until the end of World War II. After the war, Vienna was divided into sectors under the control of the USA, the UK, France and the Soviet Union. During this period reconstruction and restoration of the city was started. The four power rule ended in 1955 when Austria was given full sovereignty.

11. Key local guides and tours

Vienna is a historical city with a rich culture, although impossible to see all that the city has to offer, having a local guide will help you gain a more immersive experience. In Austria, 'Tourist Guiding' is a regulated trade and a guide must acquire a certificate of competence through a state controlled qualifying examination. Vienna has a number of tours to offer. Vienna being a musical city has tours like Vienna music tour where special emphasis is laid on musical aspect of the city and goes on for 3 hours, Vienna by night is a tour for tourists that arrive at Vienna late afternoon and want to enjoy their first evening not bothering about places to go and reservations and Cultural and Culinary Vienna combines the highlights of the sights of Vienna and selected famous cuisines of Vienna. A lot of tours are available for tourists depending upon their interests.

12. Transportation hubs

Vienna International Airport is located just outside the city limits of Vienna to get to Vienna you may use one of these options:

- S-Bahn: Operates between 5:00hrs-24:00hrs. It runs every 30 minutes and takes 25 minutes to reach Wien-Mitte station which is on the edge of the city centre. One way ticket costs €4.20.
- City Airport Train: It takes 10 minutes less than S-Bahn to reach Wien-Mitte station and it also runs every 30 minutes. The fare is €12 for one way and €19 for a return trip.
- Vienna AirportLines bus: These buses operate from 5:00hrs-24:00hrs, they drive between the Airport and various assorted points in Vienna. Tickets can be purchased with cash from the operator. All routes cost €8 for one way and €11 for return.
- Taxi: You may negotiate the fare with the driver, it usually costs between €25 and €30. You may also pre book the taxi.

The three major train stations in Vienna are Wien Hauptbahnhof, Wien Westbahnhof and Wien Meidling. All of these stations are serviced by the Wiener S-Bahn and U-Bahn. Trains come in from all parts of Europe like Germany, Hungary, Czech Republic, Slovakia and Eastern Europe via Hungary or Slovakia. There are several stops for international buses in Vienna. These are Vienna International Busterminal, Waldmanngründen, Praterstern and Engerthstrasse. Apart from Vienna International Airport all the stops are serviced by U-Bahn.

13. Transportation cost

Vienna has a comprehensive transportation system which includes rail, commuter rail, U-Bahn (subway), trams and buses. U-Bahn is the most popular and efficient mode of transport and it will take you to almost all places you are likely to visit.

Fares The whole city of Vienna lies in a single zone and you may interchange your mode of transport. The tickets are available at the subway and rail stations from either the machines (which accept Visa and MasterCard) or from the counters. Single tickets can be purchased on trams or buses. The various types of tickets are:

- Single ticket costs €2.20 for adults and €1.00 for reduced (children, bikes and dogs) can be used for one way travel between any two points in the city.
- Shopping ticket costs €5.40 and is valid from 8am to 8pm on working days
- 24 hour ticket costs €7.60
- 48 hour ticket costs €13.30
- 72 hour ticket costs €16.50
- Week ticket costs €16.20 and is valid Monday- Sunday
- Monthly ticket costs €48.20 and is valid from 1st of the month to the 2nd of the next month
- 8 day climate ticket costs €38.40 valid for entire day until 1 am the following day. You keep stamping new boxes every day or it can also be used by groups. For example a group of 4 can use the ticket twice. Public transport is free with the Vienna pass.

U-Bahn U-Bahn is the preferred method of travel in Vienna, the trains run every 1-5 minutes and cover most of the important parts of the city. Rail Vienna's rail network comprises three types of trains S-Bahn which serves inner suburbs and stops at almost all stations, Regionalbahn which are more long distance and stop on fewer stations, Regional Express which serve mostly outer suburbs. The network also stretches to neighbouring countries. Rail trips to suburbs cost an extra ticket. They can be purchased as zones or a point to point ticket.

Trams Trams have just 1 number and have 27 different lines. Travelling the tram is a little slower but more scenic. In Vienna, trams are also called as Light Rails.

Bus Bus travel is less common but if you spot a bus you can hop on it and it will take you to U-Bahn or tram station.

Night Service Most public transport runs till 12.30am except on Fridays, Saturdays and days before holidays the U-Bahn system runs all night along with a network on night buses called NightLiners.

Taxi Taxis are plentiful in Vienna and most of them run at a metered price. However if travelling outside the city, you should negotiate the price since the metered rate does not apply outside city limits. Bicycles Although Vienna is a compact city and it does not take much time to travel on a bicycle, the facilities for bicycles are not great and it can be a little dangerous going through stop signs and intersections and in places there aren't bicycle lanes. Using a bicycle is much more useful when travelling to the countryside. You can take your bike on the U-Bahn (except peak hours) for a reduced ticket.

14. Baggage allowance

There is no set limit on the amount of baggage you can carry on public transport but you should travel light especially during the peak hours when using the U-Bahn.

Index15. Must try food and local savouries

If you are in Vienna you have to try the national dish of Austria which is Wiener Schnitzel, a cutlet of veal or pork which is pounded flat and coated with flour, eggs and breadcrumbs. Then it is fried in clarified butter. You will find this dish any place that serves Vienesse cuisine. It can be eaten hot or cold. Another popular dish is the Tafelspitz (lean boiled beef) served with Geröstete Erdäpfel (mashed potatoes which are subsequently fried) and served with horseradish sauce. Vienna is also famous for its desserts like Apfelstrudel, Milchrahmstrudel, Palatschinken and Knödel. A world famous dessert is the Sachertorte which is a moist chocolate cake with apricot jam.

Apps make travel hassle free. Some of the apps that are useful while travelling to Vienna are Wien 'At a glance', Sofortparken, Shpock and Freewave.

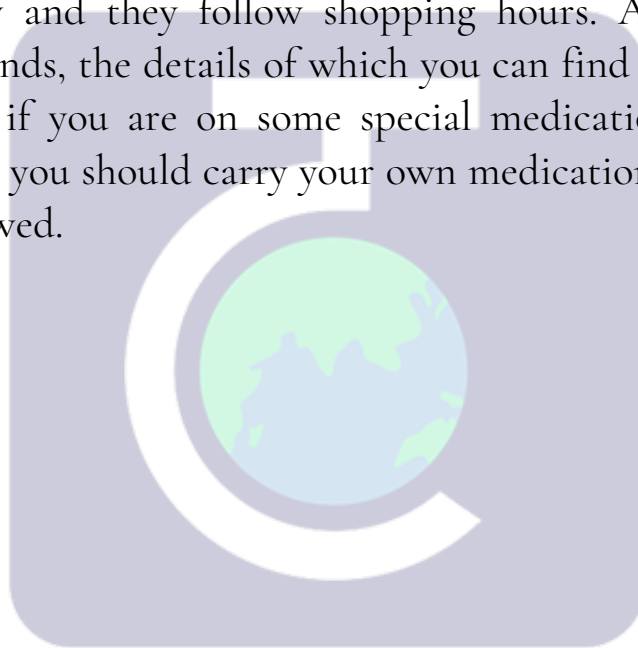

21. Driving

Driving in Vienna is uncomplicated and offers the greatest flexibility and freedom: you explore at your own pace. Roads are well maintained whether you select the superhighway or a meandering byway. An international driver's license is required and can easily be obtained from your local auto club. If you plan on driving on a highway in Austria, you'll need to buy a "Vignette", which is a toll sticker that you put on the car windshield. This takes the place of having toll booths along the highways. The cheapest sticker (Vignette) costs 7.90 Euro for a Vignette good for 10 consecutive days. You'll see them advertised for sale at highway rest stops, gas stations, etc. in Germany and Austria. Do not drive on an Austrian highway without this.

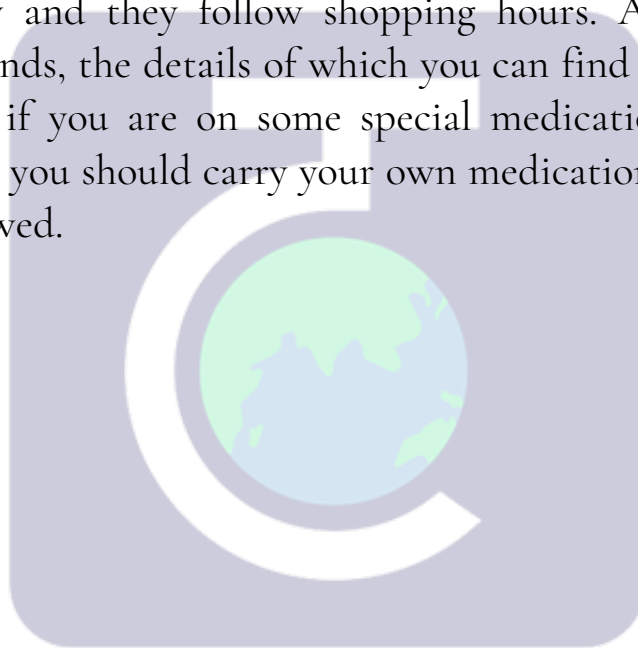

22. Travel essentials

Electrical sockets (outlets) in Austria are one of the two European standard electrical socket types: The "Type F" German style Schuko and the "Type C" Europlug although the former is much more common. Get an adapter for your device for this kind of socket. Also note the electricity is 220-240V so if your device does not support it, get a step down transformer for it. Pharmacies are common in the city and they follow shopping hours. A rota system covers nighttime and weekends, the details of which you can find at the window of the pharmacy. However if you are on some special medication or are allergic to particular medicines, you should carry your own medication as OTC's (Over the counter) are not allowed.

24. Local currency

The common currency in Austria is Euro. 1 USD = €0.89.

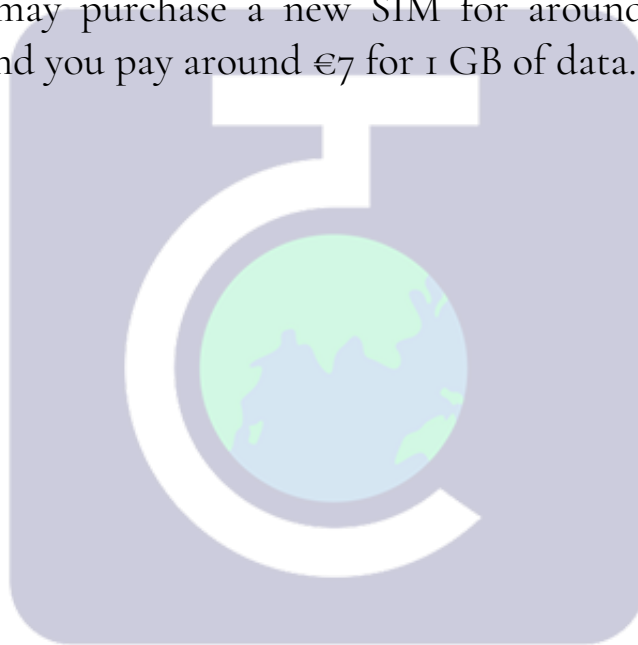

25. Change vendor's commission, ATM charges

No fee is levied by ATMs for cash withdrawal in Austria, but check if your bank does that for transactions overseas. The 2.5% commission rate is an estimate on the buying currency (US Dollar) from a bureau de change office when you are selling the Euro (in cash or possibly traveller's cheques). This is an estimate of what you might expect to receive, less any other transaction fees at the Salzburg Airport. Finding an ATM in Salzburg should not be a problem. You must check with your bank if they charge a fee for ATM transactions made out of your home country.

26. Staying connected

There are several locations in Vienna where you can find free wifi. Also many restaurants and cafes provide this facility. The three major mobile networks in Vienna are: • A1 • T-Mobile • 3(Drei) The mobile coverage is excellent in nearly whole of the country. You may purchase a prepaid SIM card from the post office or from many of the stores available. Be sure to get “wertkarte” as that stands for pre-paid SIM. You may purchase a new SIM for around €10 with the same amount as balance, and you pay around €7 for 1 GB of data.

27. Time Zone
