7.1.12. Reunion Tower

From 470 feet up you'll experience breathtaking 360-degree panoramic views, high-definition zoom cameras, interactive touch screens, telescopes, a free digital photo and an indoor/outdoor observation deck that lets you see for miles in any direction. Day or night, make the iconic Reunion Tower a must-see in Dallas. New Interactive Experience: Reunion Tower Constellation is a series of touch screen monitors located along the inner wall of the GeO-Deck; screen prompts encourage visitors to add their name and geographical information to a star, create an avatar and describe their experience with creative illustrations. Each visit begins as a single "star," and additional visits result in a larger Constellation. "It's fun, it reminds me of the Paris locks, the locks you put on that bridge. Knowing I had left an impression there would definitely make me more likely to come back." Perched 470 feet above ground, Reunion Tower's newly renovated GeO-Deck lets visitors glimpse an impressive view of the city skyline. Visitors will see not only stunning topography with the naked eye, but also with powerful telescopes, high-definition zoom cameras and interactive digital displays. Ascend to the top of the Reunion Tower to witness a 360-degree view of Dallas in the fresh and exciting GeO-Deck. Interface with touch kiosks to discover the city's many landmarks, and then peer out through a telescope to identify the urban landscape from a startling vantage point. Dallas' horizon brightens with Five Sixty atop Reunion Tower. The skyline's 560-foot landmark with the distinctive glowing ball houses the master chef's first fine dining restaurant in the city. Ride an elevator to the top of the Reunion Tower GeO-Deck, an observation deck that combines a 360-degree view of Dallas using both indoor and outdoor viewing areas, in concert with interactive touchscreens, called the Halo, to help you identify every point of interest. Discover hidden gems, historic landmarks, museums, and even parks using the touch screens, and then walk around the outside to hunt through the city's visual spectacle with one of the telescopes
