1. Geographical location

The most popular among the Nordic nations, Stockholm is the capital city of Sweden. It covers the coast with 14 islands lying to the south east of Sweden and by the mouth of Lake Malaren. The city centre is Riddarfjärden bay which is located in water. 30% of the area of Stockholm is made of waterways while other 30 is greenery and parks.

2. Neighbouring cities/countries

Solna Is 8 Km Away From Stockholm And So Is Lidingo. Sundbyberg, Another City In Sweden, Is Around 9 Km Away From Stockholm.

Index

3. Significance

Stockholm is a technologically advanced, ethnically diverse and modern city. The city, like all of Sweden, is known for its Michelin starred restaurants and other fabulously made culinary appetizers. It is also well known for the culturally advanced architecture and its depiction of pre – war era structures. The city, even though on the peak of modernization, holds on to its very tradition through its architecture. The Royal Family of Sweden also resides in Stockholm and flaunts its presence through the various Palaces spread out throughout the city. Stockholm is known around the world for its exuberant history and well preserved monuments.

Index

4. History

The name of the city, Stockholm was first seen in the records in the letters by King Valdemar and Birger Jarl. Although many have tried to fill in the origin of the name of the city through historical records, there isn't any proper evidence stating the reason behind the name. As Sweden had started gaining power and becoming known for it in Europe, development took its pace in Stockholm. The population multiplied with a huge rate and Stockholm eventually became the capital of Sweden. It also gained importance in trade as new trading rules were set up. The plague in 1710 however killed almost 365 of the Swedish population and the economic growth began its slide downwards. Having lost its status as the capital of Sweden, Stockholm continued thriving and developed culturally. It regained its pride in economics of the country again in the 19th century and returned to its place of power in Sweden. Stockholm has witnessed many events that have changed the course of the city many times around - the Vasa era-When the king Gustav Vasa reigned over Stockholm taking it to the Great Power era, the Great Power era-When Stockholm became the most important city in Sweden and had unmatched economy, etc., but it still remains Sweden's most important city and the foundation of its government.

5. Cultural identity

The Stockholm lifestyle is admired by many around the globe and Stockholm is also considered as the 'Cool Capital' by many people throughout continents. Stockholm is culturally very active and also hosts many cultural institutions that keep the culture alive and relevant across generations. The people of Stockholm are cultural enthusiasts and the city developed this sector under the rule of Gustav II. The city is home to two World Heritage sites and numerous poets and dramatists like Carl Michael Bellman, August Strindberg and Hjalmar Soderberg who are well known around the globe for their works. The city is architecturally ancient and provides a visual aid to the essence of Sweden's culture. The theatres and museums are a notable feature of the city. The people of Stockholm have a working culture. They are also known to be very socializing and simply love to catch up with friends over a fika; a Swedish delicacy.

6. Natural resources

There are a lot of natural resources found in Stockholm. The city was known to be an important trading route. Most of the material was exported from the city itself. Copper, hydropower, gold, silver, iron ore, timber, lead, zinc and uranium are some of the natural resources found in Stockholm and all over Sweden.

11. Events calendar

Month

Events

Easter

Easter is celebrated as Resurrection day for when Jesus Christ came back alive after three days of being crucified by the Romans. People in Stockholm celebrate Easter in a very colourful way.

Walpurgis Night

People light bonfires on the last night of April to shield themselves from witches that gather to worship devils. Huge bonfires are lit and people sing songs sitting around them and watch fireworks together.

May Day

A huge royal procession is carried out on this day. It is very important day and is celebrated in many ways. The day is celebrated on the first of May to welcome spring.

National Day

The people celebrate King Gustav's election as the King of Sweden and the adoption of new constitution. The royal family visits the open air museum in their traditional blue and yellow costumes.

Midsummer Eve

Men and women wear traditional clothing and dance around a maypole decorated with flowers to celebrate the longest day of the year.

Park Theatre

The open air theatre in Stockholm performs daily on the stage with variety of plays and music shows. Circus shows, modern and classical dance performances are also held here.

It has been celebrated since 1903 and is Sweden's largest market. It is opened for the celebration of Christmas. Traditional Swedish goods are for sale on the markets.

Lucia Day

Women dress as Lucia with candles lit crown on their head and form a procession followed by singers. It is celebrated in around mid of December and is celebrated in the name of St Lucia.

13. Transportation hubs

Stockholm Arlanda Airport is the major airport of Stockholm city that serves international as well as domestic flights. The airport serves express trains to the central part of the city of Stockholm. The trains depart every 15 minutes and the journey is about 20 minutes long. Buses with a travel time 50 minutes also run along with airport coaches that take you directly to the central station. Taxi is also another option depending on the time of the day. Cityterminalen is the largest bus hub in the city and provides service throughout the capital. Stockholm Centralstation is the busiest and largest train service in Stockholm and serves long rail as well as commuter trains. Both the bus hub and train station lie approximately around the city centre. Include this in local transport cost parameter. Local ferry services are also available in the city. Tallink Silja AB is the most well-known of them all.

14. Transportation cost

Public transport in Stockholm is very good and well developed. Ferries, taxis, buses as well as trains run throughout the city. Taxi fares are not regulated in Stockholm and it is the duty of the customer to check them before taking a ride. The rates are available on the rear window of the car on a white and yellow label. The maximum fare is about 250 – 280 SEK. Minimum bus fare is about 20 SEK, the train costs up to 50-90 SEK and ferries can cost around 80 – 130 SEK. However, to traverse efficiently, one can make use of underground services. SL access card is used as a ticket for every public transport and one can use it anytime they are in Stockholm by recharging it. The city of Stockholm is divided into three areas or zones and such tickets are reasonable for travel time of 75 to 100 minutes. 24-hour, 2 day or 7 day cards are also available and tourists can make most out of them too. A one to two-hour card costs 20 SEK. For a 24-hour card you will have to pay about 115 SEK. These cards are accepted on ferries also.

15. Baggage allowance

For a taxi, as long as your bags fit into the car there is no charge for the number of bags you get in. Buses, trains, trams and ferries too do not expect any extra charge for carrying luggage. It is however advised to carry less as it might cause a hindrance for other passengers availing the services.
