2. Neighbouring cities/countries

Jakarta Is Located At The North Western Tip Of The Island Of Java. It Is Close To Cities Like Bogor Which Is 50 Km Away To Its South. Karawang Is 76 Km Away To Its East. The Thousand Islands Is Located To The North Of Jakarta In The Java Sea. Medan, One Of The Major Capital Cities Of Indonesia Is 1418.8 Km Away From Jakarta.

3. Significance

Jakarta, From 1596, Was Under The Rule Of The Dutch. Thus Many Dutch Monuments Can Be Seen Spread Throughout The City. The Architecture Of The Colonial Era Has Attracted Many Tourists And Has Helped The City To Develop. Museums Are A Main Highlight Of The Capital. Besides Displaying The Obvious Artefacts, Jakarta Also Has To Offer Museums On Textiles And Boats. Monas, Also Known As The National Monument, Is The Prime Attraction Of The City. It Signifies Indonesian Independence. There Are Also Several Parks Around Jakarta, Out Of Which, Some Even Have Boat Rides. Jakarta, As It Is Called Today, Has Gone Through Different Naming Processes. It Was Initially Named The SundaKelapa By The King. Later, The Dutch Named It Jayakarta. After The Dutch Won Against The Invasion Of The English, It Renamed This City As Batavia. The Name 'Jakarta' Was Derived From Its Earlier Name Jayakarta. Today, The Capital City Is Also Called The Big Durian. Durian Is A Thorny, Odor-filled Fruit, Which Is Native To Jakarta; Hence, The Name.

4. History

Jakarta And The Area Around Were Under The Rule Of Tarumanagara. Later On, It Became A Part Of The Kingdom Of Sunda. The Port Of Sunda Was Known To Be Flourishing, And The Pepper Here Was Of The Best Quality. The Portuguese Arrived In 1513 And Built A Port In 1522 To Defend Against The Dutch. The Dutch Won The War And Renamed The Port As Jayakarta In 1596. After Fighting Off The English, The Dutch Renamed The City Batavia In 1619. The City, With Its Commercial Growth, Attracted Indonesians, Chinese And The Arabs For Trade. After WWII, In 1946, Indonesians Achieved Independence From The Dutch And Named The City Jakarta. In The Independence Era, Jakarta Saw A Lot Of Major Changes In Architecture Including A Clover Leaf Highway, A Shopping Centre And A New Parliament Building. There Were Also Constructions Like The Istiqlal Mosque, Jakarta Cathedral, Immanuel Church And A Few Others.

5. Cultural identity

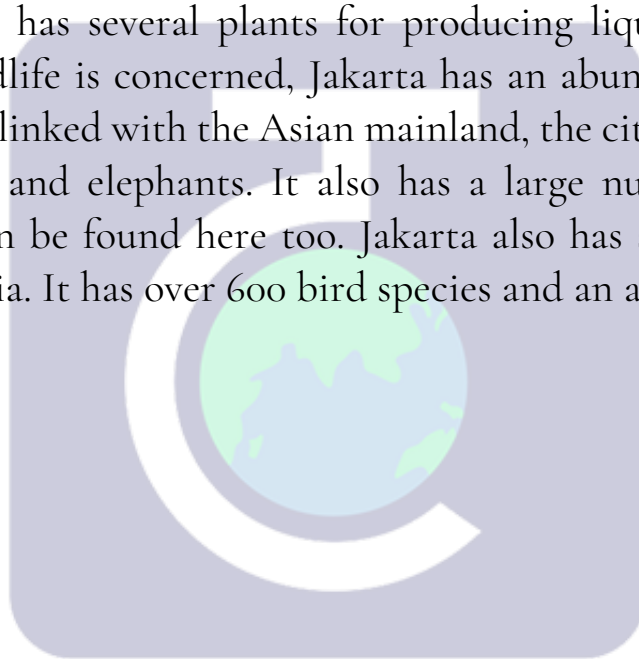

Jakarta has several cultural and art festivals throughout the year. They have fashion weeks, arts and crafts, fairs and food festivals. They also have festivals featuring animals and plant life. Museums are an important part of Jakarta. They clearly show the Indonesian heritage and the colonial era. The Betawi people are the people of Batavia. This community still has an influence over the culture of Jakarta. Their tastes and flavors can be seen in the cuisine here. The most popular dish in Jakarta is Soto Betawi, which includes beef, rice and milk. Food stalls, street food and foodcourts are very famous here. The Chinese, Japanese, Indian, Korean, Thai, etc also have their influence on the food served in Jakarta.

6. Natural resources

Indonesia is divided into 7 Islands and 34 provinces for better administrative purposes. Jakarta, the capital city, is located at the coast. This is a major advantage to the city as it extracts crude oil from the Java Sea. Jakarta also has oil refineries. Indonesia is the second largest oil producer in the world. The country also has several gold mines. It is one of the top producers of gold, copper and nickel. The city also has several plants for producing liquefied petroleum gas (LPG). As far as wildlife is concerned, Jakarta has an abundance of it. Since, in the early years it was linked with the Asian mainland, the city houses many tigers, rhinoceros, leopards and elephants. It also has a large number of orangutans. Komodo Dragons can be found here too. Jakarta also has special kinds of flora including the Rafflesia. It has over 600 bird species and an amazing coral reef.

39. Do's and Don'ts

Dos • It Is Important To Bargain When You Are Shopping In Jakarta, Especially In The Market Areas Otherwise, You Will Be Charged Higher Than Expected. • Always Remove Your Shoes Before Entering Temples And Mosques. Some Shops Have This Policy Too. • Always Carry Some Hard Cash Around As ATMs Charge High For Their Service. • It is advisable to carry a certified doctor's prescription along with the medicines to ensure hassle free import clearance. • Be Polite And Patient As Indonesians Tend To Ask A Lot Of Questions From Strangers. • It Is Better To Carry An Umbrella Around With You As The Weather Here Can Change Without Warning Sometimes. • Always Carry Your Own Water With You, Be It For Drinking Or Washing Hands. Don'ts • The Head Is Considered Sacred. Touching Someone's Head In Jakarta Will Be Considered Offensive. • Don't Expose Expensive Things Like Cameras, Watches And Other Electronics. It Can Get Stolen. • Smoking Is Strictly Prohibited In Public Areas. There Are Special Areas Allocated For This. If You Are Found Smoking Elsewhere, You Will Be Fined Heavily. • It Is Advised To Not Drink The Tap Water From Anywhere, Even In Fancy Hotels. • Do Not Get Involved With Drugs In Jakarta. There Is No Leniency From The Police If Caught. • Do Not Eat With Your Left Hand. • Don't Display Aggressive Behavior Like Hands On The Hips, Slamming Doors Or Raised Voices. Do Not Get Angry In Public As All These Are Considered Highly Offensive.

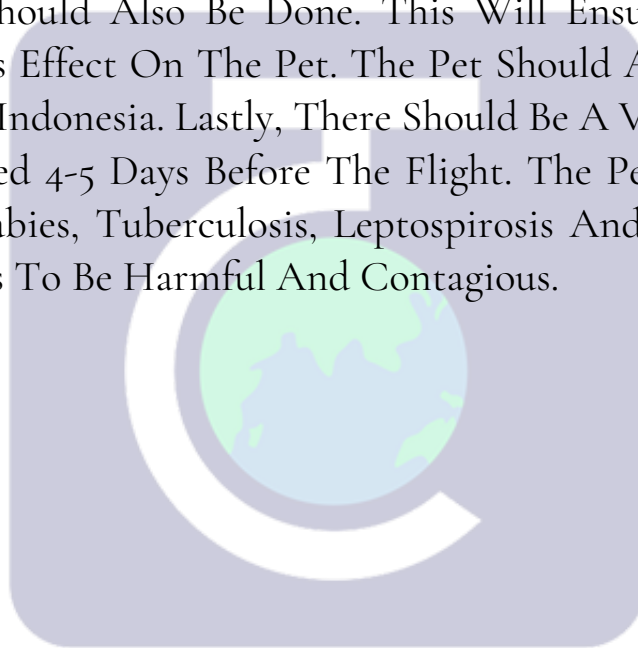

40.Tipping basics

Jakarta Doesn't Have A Tipping Policy. The 15% Rule Doesn't Apply In This City. Hotels And Restaurants Usually Include Their Service Charge In The Bill Itself. But, You Can Always Show Your Appreciation By Leaving Some Extra Money In Your Hotel Room With A Note For The Cleaning Staff Or By Giving Some Cash To The Waiter Who Served You Through The Night. Tourists Are Usually The People Who Leave Tips. They Usually Tend To Tip People Who Work In The Salons More Often Than The Waiters/waitresses. People Here Don't Often Expect Tips. But, As A Sign Of Gratitude, It Is Always Welcomed.You Can Tip From Rp 10,000 Up To Rp 50,000 For Any And All Services You Might Have Received.

41. Pet info

Travelling With Pets In And Around Jakarta Is Allowed. But, There Are Certain Regulations The Pet Owner Must Follow: The Pet Should Have A Microchip Implant For Recognition, It Should Be Vaccinated Against Rabies From A Reputed Pet Firm And The Documents Verified And The Vaccine Certificate Should Have The Pet's Microchip Number On It. After The Vaccination, A Rabies Titer Test Should Also Be Done. This Will Ensure That The Rabies Vaccine Is Taking Its Effect On The Pet. The Pet Should Also Have An Import Permit For Entering Indonesia. Lastly, There Should Be A Vet Health Certificate That Should Be Issued 4-5 Days Before The Flight. The Pet Shouldn't Have any Clinical Signs Of Rabies, Tuberculosis, Leptospirosis And Other Disease That The State Recognizes To Be Harmful And Contagious.

Conclusion – Why to select this destination

Jakarta Is The Perfect Blend Of Various Cultures, Languages, Races And Nationalities. People From A Lot Of Different Origins Have Settled Here And This Has Led To The Charm Of The Capital City. This City Is Perfect For A Short Stay. Jakarta Offers Many Services To Tourists And This Makes The Entire Trip More Exciting. Most Attractions Of This City Are Indoors. Museums Play An Important Part In Showing The Country's Culture. We Can Clearly See The Effects Dutch Had On The Country By Visiting These Ancient Places. The Colonial Era Left A Great Effect On The Country, And This City In Particular. Since The City Is Partly On The Coast, Its Seafood Is To Be Looked Out For. The People Here Have The Advantage Of Mixing Different Cuisines Into One And Producing Something Truly Representative Of Their Culture. Jakarta Does Not Have A Lot Of Amusement-themed Parks Or Resorts. But, The Few That Are Available, Are, A Must-visit! Though The City Does Not Have Many Modern Displays as Far As Places And Transports Are Concerned, It Makes Up For All That With Its Old-world Charm. Since Indonesia Was A Part Of The Asian Mainland, You Can See Its Effects In The Flora And Fauna Of The City. Rhinos, Elephants And Tigers Are Just Some Of The Majestic Beauties You Will Find Here. Jakarta Also Gives Amazing Opportunity To Its Tourists To Visit The World Famous Volcanic Mountain On The Java Strait. As Far As Entertainment Is Concerned, Jakarta Is Right On Top! Its Nightlife Is Promising And Breathtaking. There Are So Many Experiences To Gather From Here, And At Such Reasonable Prices Too. The People Here Are Respectful And Kind. Language Will Rarely Be A Problem. And, The City Has Made So Many Provisions For The Comfort Of Its Visitors. A Trip Here Will Truly Be Unforgettable!
