4. History

Port Phillip Was Discovered In 1803 By The Europeans. However Melbourne City Was Founded In 1835 By The Same Community. Prior To That, The Land Was Occupied By Humans For Supposedly 31,000 To 40,000 Years. The Central And Northern Part Of The City Was Established By John Batman, While The Southern Bank Of The Yarra River Was Ensconced By A Man Named John Fawkner. Richard Bourke, The Then Governor Of New South Wales Named The Place After The British Prime Minister William Lamb, Lord Melbourne. Melbourne Had A Substantial Population Of 29,000 In 1851 Itself. In The Same Year, Victoria Became A Separate Colony From New South Wales, With Melbourne As Its Capital. Also, It Was The Year When A Gold Rush Began In Victoria (Gold Was Discovered). So The Development Of Melbourne Became Inevitable. With This Mushroomed Many Important Buildings And Centers Here. The Princess Bridge Was Erected In 1850, Melbourne University In 1853, The State Library In 1856 And Government House In 1876. Several Eminent Museums Were Erected In The Later Half Of 20th Century.

5. Cultural identity

Melbourne is home to people from more than 200 countries. So the cultural diversity here is without recourse, not to mention the huge list of festivals celebrated here like the Chinese New Year, Hispanic Latin American Fiesta, Diwali and many more. With umpteen cultural endeavors as music and drama, art and architecture, film and television, Melbourne bequeaths the charm of an international cultural center. In fact, Melbourne was recognized as the UNESCO City of Literature in 2008.

Index

6. Natural resources

Melbourne, in its own territory, doesn't 'mine' anything. The Gold mining is, however, carried on in and around its north-western areas like Bendigo. Brown Coal is mined in the Latrobe Valley, which lies to the east of the city, and is used to power Melbourne's electrical grid. Also, the quarries stationed in the South-west mine Basalt (Bluestone or Streetscape).

13. Transportation hubs

Melbourne Governs Two Main Airports- Melbourne/ Tullamarine Airport And Avalon Airport . The Former Is The Main International And Domestic Airport, And The Latter Is Used Mostly For Cheap Domestic Flights. Tullamarine Lies In The North-western Side, While Avalon Is Situated On The South-west Of Melbourne, On The Road To Geelong. Melbourne Is A Giant City. However, All The Major Touristy Spots Are In Close Proximity To Each Other Within The City Center. The Public Transit System Known As Metlink Is The Fireball Of Melbourne's Transportation Network. Metlink Circumscribes Bus, Train And Tram Facilities That Will Most Likely Get You Anywhere You Need To Go. Melbourne Has One Of The Biggest Tram Networks Across The Globe. You Can Explore The Inner, More Intricate Suburb Of The City In Trams. There's Also A Free City Circle Tram That Takes You To The Central Business District And Docklands Area. Suburban Trains Depart From The Flinders Street Station And Go Through The City Loop, Connecting To The South Cross Station. The Frequency Of Trains Is Sufficient, But They Tend To Get Jammed During Peak Hours. Buses Are More Popular In Areas Where Trains And Trams Are Inaccessible. They Are A More Favored Option Of Transit If You Are Going Out For Shopping In The Middle And Outer Suburbs. 14. Transportation cost

Melbourne is giantly a metropolitan city and most of its tourist spots are within the city centre area. The public transport system is adequately established too. But mostly, Melbourne is a walking city. It has been designed like a grid, so it gets easier for you to get from A to B on foot. Other than that, the cheapest way to travel around the city is with public trams, trains and buses, costing you around AUD8-9 for a day. Myki is a re-usable smart card that works as plastic money to pay for your public transport fare. This pass flexes down your budget to a large extent and can be issued from any retailer store showing a Myki sign, as well as all the train, tram and bus stations. From January 2016, Melbourne has introduced a free tram zone in CBD and Docklands area. However, you need to carry your Myki along while on the free ride. Apart from these, you can rent bikes from countless bike rental stations fringed across the city. You can rent a bike for 3.3 AUD per day, as long as you return the bike every 30 minutes. The Melbourne Visitor Shuttle is a bus service that links the Docklands to CBD every 15 minutes for a rate of flat AUD6.7 per day. Also, cars can be rented at AUD15 per day. The authentic yellow taxis are omnipresent, costing you around AUD2/km. The big brands in these are 13 Cabs and Silver Top.
