4. History

"Sofia Derived Its Name In The 8th Century, When The Thracian Tribes Settled At This Place And Named The City "Serdika" To Honour The Hot Springs. Serdika Was Captured By The Romans In The First Century And The City Was Transformed To A Roman City. This City Then Became An Administrative Centre For The Entire Region. Serdika Became Constantine The Great's (reign 306-337) Favourite Place Who Believed "Serdika Was Rome". During The 5th And 6th Century, Fortified Walls And Four Massive Watch Towers Were Built To Protect The City. Serdika Was Invaded By Bulgarian Han Krum (reign 803-814) During The 9th Century. Ultimately, The City Was Liberated In 1878 And It Was Declared As The Capital Of Bulgaria In The Year 1879."
