3. Significance

Apart from the annual festivals such as the Carnaval Miami and Calle Ocho Festival, Miami is home to numerous entertainment venues, museums, theaters, parks as well as performing arts centers. The latest addition to the art scene of Miami is the Adrienne Arsht Center for the Performing Arts. The scene is United States' largest performing arts center after the Lincoln Center in New York. Within the center is Ziff Ballet Opera House- the largest venue in the Center, the Knight Concert Hall, the Peacock Rehearsal Studio and the Knight Concert Hall. All these scenes attract many different operas, concerts, ballets, and musicals from all over the world and are the state's grandest performing arts center. The city of Miami is home to many museums as well. Many of these museums are found in Downtown including the Miami Science Museum, History Miami, Miami Children's Museum, Frost Art Museum, Vizcaya Museum and Gardens, Miami-Dade Cultural Center, home to Miami Main Library. Art Basel Miami nicknamed the "Olympics of Art" is the largest art exhibition event in the world and is usually held in December annually. The event attracts tens of thousands of visitors from around the world.

4. History

Miami is one of those cities that have a very colorful history. The history of this city can be regarded as eventful and significant. What began as a tiny settlement near the banks of the river Miami, has become a popular city with huge international appreciation. Today Miami is one of the most popular tourist destinations in the world. The settlement of Paleo Indians that came in over 10,000 years ago resulted in the formation of the city of Miami. These inhabitants settled near the edge of the Biscayne Bay. Today this place is sprawling with some of the plushest real estate. Miami is one of the most beautiful cities in the world which is why it attracts a large number of tourists. Tourism was a booming industry in Miami even before the World War I. The beautiful beaches, sprawling homes and the list of millionaires living here attracted a lot of people. Although during World War 2 the tourism industry faced a major blow, the city bounced back and got popular again.

5. Cultural identity

Miami is known for its heritage and many cultural influences. It has been nicknamed the "Capital of Latin America" due to its high population of Spanish speakers. It is also considered the largest US city with Cuban American plurality. Miami is well known for various festivals like the Calle Ocho Festival and the Three Kings Parade. There are also many colorful streets full of local businesses and authentic Cuban food. People in Miami tend to speak a lot more Spanish than the other cities in the US. Miami is known for its art galleries, nightlife, beaches, museums and performing arts centers. The other languages spoken in Miami are Hebrew and English.

Index*6. Natural resources

Miami is such popular tourist destinations that preserving the natural resources here have become the need of the day. Miami is best known for its beaches and this poses a great threat to the aquatic life. With a view to protect endangered species, Miami started two aquatic preserve programs that focus on protecting endangered species. Considering the large number of people that visit this city, the energy consumption here is high. Florida ranks at 45th position in the total consumption of energy annually. In order to preserve the natural resources, Miami has begun the go green campaign where most hotels and home owners are encouraged to use solar panels for energy.

12. Transportation hubs

The Miami International Airport is situated in Miami Dade County. It is also known as MIA and historically was called Wilcox Field. The distance from The Miami International Airport to the city center is 12.2kms which takes 13mins to travel the distance. It is a focus airport for Avianca, Frontier Airlines and LAN Airlines. Most of the international flights to Miami land here. If you're visiting Miami from outside USA, you will land here. It also houses the domestic hub for American Eagle and Eastern Air Lines. The MIA operates passenger and cargo flights throughout the US, Europe and Western Asia. The MIA is ranked the 23rd busiest airport in the world and 10th busiest airport in the US based on passenger traffic. These flights are for people who travel within USA. Miami has various methods of transportation to help you get around and explore the neighborhood. Some of the modes of transport are rent a bike, rent a scooter, rent a segway, uber, private car services, taxi services, rent a car, trolleys, and train or bus services. The Miami Metro Rail runs along a 22 station commuter line between Palmetto and Dadeland. It also runs a special Orange Line to the airport. The Metrobus operates over 1,000 buses covering 90 routes across the city. The advantage of the bus route over the train route is gaining accessibility to places that the train route does not cover like Miami Beach and Key Biscayne. If you are looking for a fun and free way to explore the city, simply hop on and off a trolley. Another convenient and possibly quicker way to travel is by renting a bicycle. One of the advantages of riding a bicycle is riding along the beach to take in the beauty of nature.

13. Transportation cost

Miami ranks as the seventh largest city in the United States and has a great public transportation system. The system has three parts: the Metrorail, the metro mover, and the metro bus. Cost of Regional monthly Pass: For those passengers who use Miami-Dade (MDT) and Tri-rail, MDT offers the Regional Monthly Pass, which allows customers to ride seamlessly between both systems Full fare- Regional Monthly Pass - $145 Golden passports- Seniors (65 and above) - $22.50 7-Day Pass [Valid for seven consecutive days from the first day of use.] Fare - $29.25 Discount Fare - $14.60 1-Day Pass [Valid only from the time of first use up to 2:00 A.M. the next day] Fare - $5.65 Discount Fare - $2.80 The Metrobus is the city's bus system, and it goes from the South Beach to downtown Miami whereas the Metrorail is a twenty-two-mile train system running from Kendall through downtown Miami, then up to Dade County/ Northwest Miami where one can connect with the Tri-Rail train system which goes into Fort Lauderdale. The metro rail is the good way to use to go south from downtown Miami to a destination such as University of Miami, Dadeland Mall, Coral Gables, or South Miami. The cheapest way you can get down to Miami Beach without renting a taxi, car or taking a shuttle on the Metrobus route 150 is by taking a bus to the south beach for only $2.35 for each way. Buses run all day long. One way fare within Miami is $ 1.5 and 50 cents extra for a transfer. You may use the Metrobus shuttle service for only 25 cents. This is very practical in the South Beach. You can buy a weekly bus pass for unlimited bus usage throughout the week and also works cheaper compared to the daily bus fares. Ensure the driver gives you transfer before alighting and you need to get onto another bus to your next destination. The transfer will give you a discount on the next bus fare you pay for. Another important thing is that buses do not give change. Another transportation system is the Metromover, a bus as a vehicle riding on a track above the Miami downtown area. It is a great way of moving around downtown. The Metromover is free and can be found at the Government Center or at the Adrienne Arsht Center Metromover Station (Omni Station). You can use the self-service bike rental system to get around Miami Beach. There are around a hundred claimed stations where one can rent or return a bicycle. Information on public transportation within Miami-dade County or Miami Beach can be found at <http://www.miamidade.gov/transit>. For taxi and shuttle travel prices to different destinations in Miami and Miami beach, go to website: http://www.miami-airport.com/html/taxi\_and\_shuttle\_service.html

Index*14. Baggage allowance

Carry-on items and checked baggage is free of charge, if it fits in the trunk or rear passenger seat, its free! Miami/Amtrak station is the local train station serving the Miami-Dade County, Amtrak is also the only national railroad passenger system of the United States located in Miami, FL. Amtrak allows passengers to bring on 2 personal items 25lbs each and 2 carryon items weighing no more than 50lbs each free of charge; any items going over the weight limit is charged a $20 excess baggage fee, as well as up to 4 bags of checked baggage first 2 is free and the other 2 for $20 each, not going over 50lbs. You can get to and from this station easily with the help of Miami Downtown Yellow Cab Taxi for cheap low rates.

Index*15. Must try food and local savouries

If you haven't made a Miami food bucket list already, you should start making one today. The combination of watermelon, waffles, and chicken is as Southern as it gets you, that's why it's rated the best item on the menu at Yard Bird Southern Table & Bar. With sharp cheddar made in Vermont and honey hot sauce, along with the all so yummy bourbon maple syrup, it's made to satisfy. You don't know ice cream till you tried Cuban ice-cream mixed with cubes of guava, fluffy cream cheese and Maria cookies topped with the best guava syrup in town at Azucar Ice Cream Company. You may even want to try original flavors of the Cuban tongue like café con leche, which is nothing more than Cuban coffee and Oreos. The staff is very sweet and the atmosphere is filled with a Cuban flair. On your next visit to Miami check out at Azucar Ice Cream Company, you won't be disappointed.

Index*17. Average meal cost

Miami is relatively expensive compared to other cities in the United States due to the high life at Miami Beach, which attracts so many visitors. A lunch in Miami costs $ 14 while 500 grams of boneless chicken breast will cost you $ 5.23. It will be expensive to take a bottle of red table wine as it costs $14 and domestic beer is currently at $ 2.38 at a local supermarket.

18. Tourist benefits

Miami is one of the hottest spots for tourists all over the world. The government makes a lot of money from the tourism industry which is why the citizens of Miami pay low taxes. Unfortunately, tourists don't get any tax benefits when they visit this city. If you're planning to make a trip to Miami you need to prepare yourself to pay high taxes. All hotels, restaurants and major services are heavily taxed and no tourists get exemption from this tax. There are service fees and taxes on all the services you opt in for and VAT for any product you purchase. Restaurants will charge you VAT and service fee. These taxes could go up to 20% of your bill amount depending on the service fee and VAT charges by the provider. This is one of the main reasons why most tourists refrain from tipping people in Miami. There are duty free shops at the airport that sell some items which tourists can buy without having to pay taxes. There is a limit to the amount of things you can buy at the duty free store. Custom duty is applicable to the items you choose to import from Miami. You need to check with the customs officer at the airport about the items you are planning on importing. It is always good to declare all the items you purchased from Miami. You can check online for the items that fall under the custom duty tax. These taxes are expensive, so only shop for the item if you need it and think it is worth it after the taxes.

19. Essential local apps

Travel apps play their part in making travel easier and more comfortable. They can be used for a wide range of purposes. The most popular and most accepted Travel apps of Miami are Tele-Traffic (app for traffic updates), Good weather (the app provides the users with detailed weather information in more than 200000 cities), Flavour (app that helps one to discover the city's best cuisine) and others. There are free and are compatible with both Android and iOS operating systems.

20. Driving

The U.S federal system does not permit drivers to drive with an International Driver's license or a foreign driver's license in Florida. It is compulsory that the driver must have a U.S driver's license. For obtaining the license, the applicant is required to be at least 16 years of age and he/she should then apply for a learners permit at the Department of Motor Vehicles. After obtaining the learners permit, the applicant will have to give a written test and a road test. The license granted on clearing the road test is subject to a probationary period of six months. Tourists and travellers could apply for a temporary driver's license by submitting copies of the immigration and naturalization documents. The license granted after due consideration of the documents of proof of presence in the U.S will have the words "Temporary Visitor" printed on it along with date of expiry of immigration documents.

37. Do's and Don'ts

Miami is one of the most popular tourist destinations and if you're coming here on a holiday you need to know what to do and what not to in order for you to enjoy your holiday to the fullest. Do's: • When you are in Miami, take the necessary precautions as you would in other high crime neighborhoods around the country such as minding one's business, getting to your destination quickly, and avoid wearing flashy jewelry and electronics. • Remember that most common sense rules such as being aware of your surroundings at night and traveling in high-traffic areas at night apply in Miami as it does in all other urban areas around the United States. • Stay safe, but if anything bad happens, remember to call emergency numbers. • Arrange for sufficient medicines to meet your personal medical needs. Check with the embassy of the country you are visiting to ensure your medicine is legal in the countries you are travelling to. Obtain a doctor's letter stating who the medicines are for, what they are, the dosage, and leave medicines in their original packaging. Don'ts • Never leave your hotel room without a map. Miami is a crowded city which has confusing roads. You could get lost if you're traveling without a map. • Don't forget to carry sunscreen. Miami is a hot city which is also humid. This whether can cause sun tans and sun burns. If you don't want a darker shade of skin, invest in some good quality sunscreen. • Don't try communicating with everyone in Spanish. Although a lot of people here speak the language, not all of them know it and consider it as an insult when you try communicating with them in a language they don't understand. • It is advisable that do not carry unsealed/ unbranded food articles as the same may be banned for import.

38.Tipping basics

Tipping is considered as a universal way of thanking someone for their services. In Miami, although tipping is not obligatory, it is included in the check. Although not mandatory, tipping is highly encouraged in Miami as it is the main income for those working in the hospitality industry here. As a tourist, here are some tipping basics to keep in mind while in Miami. In a buffet restaurant, the usual tip should be around 10%. A cocktail waitress or a bartender may be tipped $ 1 or 15% of the bill, whichever is greater. A restroom attendant may be tipped $ 1. A doorman may be tipped $1 or $ 2 depending on the level of service provided. For a valet, you need to tip $ 2 when parking your car and $ 2 when returning. Although these are just some basics tips, you may choose to tip based on the satisfaction of service.

Index*39.Pet info

Miami is a pet friendly destination and there are a number of things you can do here with your pet. There are a number of dog parks you could take your pet to and let them interact with other pets. There are some great trails that allow tourist to get their pets along. You can also visit the beach with your pets in Miami and let them soak in the sun with you. A number of hotels provide accommodation for pets, you can check online and book a stay with one of these hotels. Most restaurants too in Miami allow pet owners to get their pets inside and some even cook up special pet meals. In order to travel with your pet you need a special visa. Although all airlines do not permit pets travelling along with their owners, there are a few that ensure your pet can travel with you in comfort.

Conclusion – Why to select this destination

Miami beach is actually located on an island. It is an expensive tourist district however is popular because of numerous beach front restaurants, shops and hotels. Miami is known for its crazy lifestyle. If you are a person that enjoys going wild, then this is the place for you. Three important monuments are a must see at this place: 1) The torch of friendship; 2) the World War II memorial; and 3) the Challenger memorial. The torch of friendship symbolizes Miami's relationships with Central and South America and the Challenger memorial commemorates the Challenger spacecraft which exploded in 1986. Roaming around the streets of Miami in your bathing suit is definitely not frowned upon. Another thing Miami is famous for is its Cuban coffee. If you are a coffee person then you definitely need to try this coffee. Miami also boasts of a ten lane highway system. So getting stuck in traffic would be pretty rare. Another amazing thing about this place is that the temperature very rarely drops throughout the year. The thickest clothing that you would ever find yourself in is your trusted sweatshirt. Wild parrots are also a common sight in Miami. This is a rare sight anywhere else in the US and is definitely a must see for all bird lovers. Talking about parrots, how would you love it if you saw a duck waddling down the street? That's right; Miami can show you things no other city in the US can show you. There would be times that you would see a peacock on the road as well. Also if seeing someone catching an alligator with their bare hands interests you, then you should definitely head to Miami. The cars are not too far behind in Miami as well. You will see all sorts of rides on the road; right from a Lamborghini to a custom made Toyota complete with red rims and flags across the windshield. Also the houses stand out across the boulevard. You get to see lime green, purple, pink, aqua and orange houses. If that is not all, then you should definitely head to Miami to taste the amazing Cuban food. And lastly if none of this interests you, then you should head to Miami just for the sun kissed beaches. It is a sun bather's paradise.
