4. History

The history of Paris dates back to the 3rd century BC. The city was founded by the Gauls who were called Parisii. Later in 52 AD, the Romans took over and built a town on the River Seine. In the late 3rd century when the Roman Empire was in decline, a race called the Franks captured the city. The Middle Ages brought great prosperity to Paris. Towards the end of the 12th century, the city had become the political, economic, and cultural capital of France. Many new museums and cultural institutions were built in the city in this period. During the 18th and 19th century, Paris grew tremendously in population and became the centre stage of the French Revolution.

5. Cultural identity

Paris has always remained a meeting point for artists from all over the world. It is a flourishing European centre for art and culture which can be seen in its architectural splendour, local music, traditional cuisine and annual fests. The city is home to hundreds of museums, art galleries, chapels, historic mansions and cultural institutions such as The Louvre, Musée d'Orsay, Musée Rodin, Grand Palais, Musée National d'Art Moderne, Opéra Garnier (historical Paris Opéra), Basilique du Sacré-Coeur and Le Lido (cabaret-dance hall). Various music festivals and social events take place in the city. Paris Fringe (international theatre festival) and Le Festival des Meilleurs Vins (wine festival) are among the most famous events in Europe and attract numerous visitors from all over the world. French cinema is also rich. A lot of concert halls were transformed into movie theatres when the media became popular during the 1930s.

12. Key local guides and tours

Although Paris is a place best explored on your own, having a local guide will help you gain a more immersive experience in the city. Tours can also be customized to your personal liking and language preference. Popular City Tours:

- i) Landscape tours Paris is a stunning location with ample natural beauty. There are over 400 nature parks in Paris to choose from. Other than that, the city offers lush valleys, slow-moving River Seine and spectacular hills.
- ii) Cultural and Historic Trips A cultural tour through Paris and surrounding areas is an enriching experience. Visitors can learn about historic sites, cultural heritage, traditional cuisine, music and folklore.
- iii) Gastronomy tours French cuisine was awarded the UNESCO humanity heritage status in 2010 and Paris certainly is one of the best places to relish it. A gastronomy tour takes you through the early cooking traditions and practices from France.

Popular Tour Guides:

- i) Jessica Terrier Jessica is an expert guide in Paris. She specializes in art and history tours in and around the city. Her dedication to French culture is of highest degree. She is fluent in English and French.
- ii) Isabelle Southgate Isabelle has been living in Paris for over 20 years now. She is a professional, licensed tour guide and specializes in family vacation and tours around the city. She usually has all family friendly cultural events and activities on her tips.

13. Transportation hubs

Airport Paris Charles de Gaulle (CDG) Airport is the main international airport of Paris. It is located 25 kilometres from the city centre. One of the fastest and cheapest ways to reach the city centre is to take the RER train (B Line). One-way ticket costs €9.25 and the journey takes around 50 minutes. You can also take the Roissybus that runs almost every 15 minutes. One-way ticket costs €9.25 and the journey takes almost an hour. Local bus (350 or 351) departs from Terminals 1 and 2. The fare costs €5.70 and the journey can take up to two hours. A taxi normally costs €50 (€60 at night). The journey takes an hour depending on traffic. Railway Station Paris has six major train stations in the city centre as listed below: i) Gare de l'Est (Serves eastern France and Germany) ii) Gare du Nord (Serves northern France) iii) Gare Saint-Lazare (Serves west and southwestern suburbs) iv) Gare d'Austerlitz (serves central France, Toulouse and the Pyrenees) v) Gare de Lyon (Serves southeastern France) vi) Gare Montparnasse (Serves western and southwestern France) Transfer between train stations is easy via Metro. Réseau Express Régional (RER) is an express underground/ subway train in Paris. Other than stations within the city, it connects various outlying suburbs and popular destinations. Bus Station Paris-Gallieni bus station is the main bus station in Paris. It is built in two levels and is perfectly located next to Porte de Bagnolet and Paris ring road.

14. Transportation cost

The ideal way to get around Paris is to take a metro. It runs from 05:00hrs-00:30hrs and there are around 300 metro stations in the city. A single metro ticket (one journey use) costs €1.80. A carnet of 10 tickets costs €14.10 for adults and €7.05 for children under 10. Visitors can also choose a Monthly or weekly Navigo Package. The fares vary depending on the travel zones covered. A good idea is to get metro maps from the stations. Once you find the destination station on the map, follow the Metro line to its end and there should be no problems. Kindly note that a single metro ticket is valid for one trip only and transferring to a bus or tram with the same ticket is not permitted. The RER (Réseau Express Régional) is a network of regional trains in Paris. It is a great option to get from one point in the city to another really fast. Trains and commuter rail help you explore the suburbs that are located a bit further from Paris. Tickets are the same as metro tickets. Bus service in Paris is highly efficient and organized. Tickets are the same as metro tickets. However, you will need another ticket if you change to a different bus route or connect with another form of public transport. Paris L'OpenTour buses are also a great option to explore the city as they let you stop at as many stops as you like. A day pass for the same costs you €33. Boats are also a fun way to get about in Paris. The Batobus runs up and down the seine with eight stops. A one-day adult pass costs €16. Cycling is also a popular mode of transportation in the city.

Index*15. Baggage allowance

There is enough space in local trains for standard luggages to fit in and while there is no set limit on the amount of baggage you can carry on public transport in Paris, it is recommended that you travel light. Two big rolling bags and two handbags should just be fine but as long as you can get it on and off, you shouldn't have problems. Kindly note that there's no weight limit for your luggage with Eurostar. However, taxi and shuttle will charge for extra luggage

16. Must try food and local savouries

Regional cuisine of Paris is characterized by its extreme diversity and style. The staple dishes of the greater Paris region are inspired by fresh, locally grown Mediterranean products like tomatoes, zucchini, figs, fish, oysters, lobsters and seasonal herbs. Bread and cheese are usually the key basic ingredients of any Parisian meal. Signature dishes of the city include Baguette (a long thin loaf of French bread), Croque-monsieur (baked or fried boiled ham and cheese sandwich), Duck confit, Jambon-beurre (ham butter sandwich), Paris-Brest (a French dessert), Croissant, Macarons and Crêpes. The region is also known for French Champagne which comes from the Champagne district. French wines are also extremely popular.

17. Restaurant & Nightlife

A trip to France is incomplete without delicious and healthy meals. Many of the city's restaurants and cafes have a preference towards local produce, but you can relish both traditional French delicacies and modern meals in Paris. You can find a lot of traditional bistros and brasseries in Rue de la Huchette, Rue de la Harpe, and Rue Xavier Privas near Place Saint-Michel. The city also boasts of many Michelin star restaurants.

Index*19. Shopping

Paris is a great location for shopping and is home to some of the most prestigious fashion and lifestyle brands. The city has plenty of shopping centers, supermarkets, open-air markets, fashion boutiques, antique and souvenir stores, malls and bookstores which cater to a diverse range of shopping tastes and needs. All major luxury shopping stores and quaint boutiques in the city can be found around St-Germain des Prés, Place de la Madeleine, Rue de Grenelle & Rue Cler.

20. Tourist benefits

VAT rate in Paris ranges between 10-20%. International travelers can reclaim the Value Added Tax paid over goods provided they spend a minimum of €175 (in one shop) on goods that they export within 90 days of their purchase. To avail this benefit, all you are required to do is look for stores with tax free shopping signboard, get the VAT reimbursement receipt from the store at the time of your purchase, fill it out carefully and get it stamped from the customs authorities on your final departure. Global Refund is the most common in the city. Kindly note, there is no refund without completed forms, receipts attached and customs validation.

21. Essential local apps

Next Stop Paris is the official app of the RATP. It offers route maps of the Metro, RER and tramway lines. Most of the features are accessible even when you are offline. The AlloCab app can be used to book a taxi in Paris with just one click for a fixed price regardless of traffic. Another useful app is My Airport. It is the official app of the airport authority of Paris. It has everything from flight arrival and departure time to terminal information like boarding gates.

22. Driving

Driving in Paris is quite an experience. The legal driving age in the city is 18. If you are staying in France for less than 90 days, you can drive with your valid US driver's license. It's also generally recommended to get an International Driving Permit, which provides a translation of your license. Make sure you always carry your ID Card, credit card, license, insurance certificate and vehicle registration (carte grise) with you when you drive.

23. Travel essentials

The standard electricity supply in Paris is 220 volt - 50 Hz AC. The standard electrical socket (outlet) in the country is of "Type C" Europlug and the "Type E" and "Type F" Schuko. If the plug of your appliances does not match the shape of these sockets, you will need a travel plug adapter during your stay in Paris. Most battery chargers have a built-in voltage converter, but you might need one if coming from a non-European country. Pharmacies can be easily found in the city. Most of them operate during normal working hours while some are open for 24 hours. However, if you are on some specific medication, it is advised that you carry your medicines from your home country.

24. Essential clothes

25. Local currency

The official currency of Paris is Euro (€). 1 USD = €0.90.

26. Change vendor's commission, ATM charges

All major credit cards (including VISA, MasterCard etc) are accepted in Paris. However, it is advisable that you go well-equipped with cash as a lot of shops and restaurants don't accept credit cards, especially for purchases under €15. ATM withdrawals and credit card charges are likely to incur a typical surcharge of €0.94-4.70 per withdrawal. Kindly connect with your bank for more information on international withdrawal fees.

27. Staying connected

There are four most popular mobile carriers in Paris: i) Orange ii) SFR iii) Bouygues, and iv) Telecom There is a standard mobile network (GSM 900/ 1800/ GPRS/ HSPDA) in the country and you should check beforehand if your phone is compatible, especially if you're coming from the US. If you plan to stay in the city for a longer period of time, you might as well consider buying a new SIM card. A starter set prepaid card will cost you around €20-30. A photocopy of your passport or ID card will be required for the same. A lot of hotels, cafes and restaurants in Paris offer free wi-fi facility to their customers. Some local trams also offer free wireless internet on the go.

28. Time Zone

Paris falls under the Central European Time Zone (UTC +01:00). It observes Daylight Saving Time (CEST), UTC +2.

29. Languages

French is the official spoken and written language of Paris. Several regional languages (Celtic languages, German dialects etc) are also spoken in the city to varying degrees. English is not widely spoken (outside of tourism industry) and since Parisians respect good-faith efforts at French, a French phrase book will certainly come in handy. If you can understand basic French, you'd be able to read road signs, order food, and buy things in Paris without much difficulty.

30. Political Scenario

The City of Paris is headed by an elected mayor. The city is divided into 20 districts. Each district has its own local council and a mayor. The most influential political parties in the city are the Communist Party and the Socialist Party.

31. Economic Scenario

Paris is the sizzling hot center of economic activity in France and accounts for approximately 31% of the total French GDP. The economy is largely based on the tertiary sector which accounted for 90 percent of the value added. The top ten French companies listed in the Fortune Global 500 for 2015 all have their headquarters in the Paris. There are other major companies in the field of aeronautics/ aerospace, information technology, telecommunications and biotechnology too. No wonder, the Greater Paris Region is among the top centres for investment in Europe. The economy of Paris is also driven by trade and tourism. The total contribution of tourism represents 9.7% of GDP and supports 2.9 million jobs in Paris.

32. Religious belief

Paris is an overwhelmingly Catholic city. However, the number of active believers has been falling for decades. 83–88% of the population of Paris is Roman Catholic, 5%–10% Muslim, 2% Protestant, 1% Jewish and 4% unaffiliated.

33. Visa requirements

If you have a Schengen visa, you can stay (but not work) in Paris for approximately three months. EU nationals with residence permit may stay for as long as they like and can enter with a valid EU identity card too. However, registration at Bürgeramt office is mandatory for stays exceeding a few months. Nationals of Australia, New Zealand, Canada, USA and a few others can visit Paris with a valid passport for a period of three months. Nationals of the rest of the world need to apply for a visa to visit the city. It is advisable to keep 2 pages free in your passport for arrival and departure stamps. In certain cases, it has been observed that applying and receiving a visa can be a process of 20-30 days. Hence, it is essential that you check the timeline with the relevant authority in the country where you intend to make the visa application. For detailed information and the list of documents required for application of visa, you might want to check online at: www.schengenvisainfo.com/france-visa/

Index*34. Essential vaccination

Before your visit to the Paris, make sure you are up-to-date on routine vaccines like measles-mumps-rubella (MMR), varicella (chickenpox, polio and seasonal flu. Depending on the duration of your stay and the country you are traveling from, you might need vaccines for Hepatitis A and B. The World Health Organization recommends that you visit a physician at least six weeks before your departure.

Index*35. Theft and Safety

Paris is quite a safe city. Apart from existence of petty crimes such as pickpocketing and snatching, there is no major crime heard of in the city as such. The region is never really abandoned (even at night) but it makes sense to be careful especially if you are traveling alone. If you keep tabs on your possessions and keep your wits about you, you should not face any problems.

36. Embassy/Consulate

For any emergencies, foreign tourists can get assistance at their home embassies in Paris. You can find the complete list of foreign representations in the city at: <http://embassy.goabroad.com/embassies-in/france>

37. Accessibility

Disability access in Paris is rather weak considering various old buildings (especially in the city center) and long distances between different tourist attractions. That said, Paris being a popular tourist destination, most of the city's popular attractions are wheelchair accessible to a great degree. The accessible bus lines in Paris are also an efficient way to get around the city. Of course you can find adapted public transport, adapted private transport and adapted car parks at most places inside the city.

38. Emergencies

Having a valid European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) will provide you access to the city's public health care system at greatly reduced cost. Since the EHIC will not cover medical repatriation, ongoing medical treatment or non-urgent treatment, it is advised that you sign up for an adequate travel insurance and accessible funds to cover the cost of any medical treatment and repatriation. Visitors who come from a country outside of the EU are advised to take out a valid, private medical insurance to cover medical expenses in Paris. The state run medical services in the city are decent and can be reached in case of emergency. The hotels provide shuttles and ambulances in such cases. The hospitals in the city are well equipped. Hôpital Hôtel-Dieu (AP-HP) offers excellent healthcare, emergency service and private rooms in the city. Emergency numbers: Police - 110 Medical emergency/ accident services; fire brigade - 112
